

Cognitive Walkthrough

I. Action Flow

II. Action Analysis

	Will the user try to achieve the right effect?	Will the user notice that the correct action is available?	Will the user associate the correct action with the effect that the user is trying to achieve?	Will the user see that progress is being made toward the solution of the task?
Action I: User copy and paste or type their stories	Yes, there is a text area present.	No, the page lacks information of how the tool should be used.	Yes, text area will accept text input and display the input.	Yes, text area will accept text input and display the input.
Action II: Users send the requests.	Yes, there is a button located at the bottom of text area, center of the page.	Yes, there is a button located at the bottom of text area, center of the page.	Yes and no, certain text should be sent when button is click, some text should not.	Yes, progress bar will be displayed once request is sent.
Action III: Users click the filter option.	Yes, the filter present is a generic filter.	Yes, the filter present is a generic filter.	Yes, the filter present is a generic filter.	No, the sorting is near instant when filter option changes.
Action IV: User click one “word” and all corresponding “words” change accordingly.	No, it is unknown new user would know some “words” are clickable.	No, it is unknown new user would know some “words” are clickable.	Yes, words would be labeled once they are clicked.	No, the text labeling is near instant.